As a committee we have concluded that sometimes there is truth lost in the translation between social networking and reality. We invite students to create and submit artwork, of any medium, as a representation of how technology has influenced our generation's ability to control self-image.

Young I's is the second juried youth art show at EAC featuring artwork by area high school students. The Young I's Committee is made up of Edina teens committed to the promotion of the visual arts among youth. EAC provides a venue for young artists to showcase their diverse talents and visions. We intend for the show to be well-rounded and to include a wide range of artistic expression.
